Krewe of Real People: The Next Generation and Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse parades mark the end of 2019 Mardi Gras festivities

The Krewe of Seahorse, led by Queen Tethys VI Kay Kell and King Oceanus VI Henry Winters, parades through Old Town on Lundi Gras.

Old Town Bay St. Louis celebrated Lundi Gras and Mardi Gras 2019 in classic style as the Mystic Krewe of Seahorse and Krewe of Real People: The Next Generation wrapped up this year's Carnival season. "Happy Mardi Gras!," Krewe of Real People King Marquez Singleton yelled Tuesday as he and his wife and Queen AsheLee Singleton were transported down Main Street in a gleaming white carriage drawn by two enormous black horses. Tuesday marked the second annual parade for KORP:NG, but the krewe is carrying on a decades-long tradition. The new krewe was founded by the children and grandchildren of the original Krewe of Real People.

The Krewe of Real People: Next Generation keeps up the Mardi Gras Indians tradition.

Mississippi state Rep. Jeramey Anderson served as this year's grand marshal for the parade. On Monday, the Mystic Krewe of Seahorse also rolled through Old Town before a huge crowd of revelers for its sixth annual Lundi Gras parade, the only one on the Coast. "Each year it gets better and better," this year's King Henry Winters said. "We kind of think it has gone over the top tonight." Winters -- a.k.a. King Oceanus VI -- was joined

Brenda's House Children's Emergency Shelter aims to change direction

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE STAFF WRITER

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday heard from Hancock County Human Resource Agency Executive Director Lora Mederos about the new direction of Brenda's House Children's Emergency Shelter. "On a national level, federal guidelines regarding congregate care — which is what we provide at the children's shelter — have changed with the Family First Prevention Services Act," Mederos said. "The state is therefore moving toward a strengthening families and protective factors framework." The state is currently funding a pilot program, she added. "The number of children in care in Hancock County has decreased by over 50 percent in the last year," Mederos said. "Hancock County Youth Court is also moving towards what appears to be a strengthening family approach. Youth Court has also conducted a field study of services needed to protect children and keep them safe in their homes or returned as soon as possible with the least amount of trauma to the children." Mederos said the youth court identified several resources in its state of address, including: Life skills classes for teens and parents; teen mentoring; crisis management counseling; agencies servicing families in Hancock County in collaboration with others to better prepare services to help families; agency training; and providing health and basic services to Child Protection Services. Mederos said Brenda's House opened

Two jailed, meth and weapons seized at drug bust in Waveland

SEA COAST ECHO

The Waveland Police Department and Hancock County Sheriff's Office worked together Monday morning to take down a Waveland drug operation, arresting two suspects and seizing pot, drugs, paraphernalia, weapons and ammo. "As part of an ongoing investigation, narcotics agents and criminal investigators from the Hancock County Sheriff's Office, with assistance from Waveland Police Department, executives a search warrant this morning (in the 1100 block of) Amar Street in the city of Waveland," Sheriff's Narcotics Division Cmdr. Bill Covington said in a press release Monday. "Narcotics agents had to make forcible entry into the residence, after the two individuals inside refused to respond to commands to open the door. Marijuana, THC concentrate, methamphetamine and items of usage paraphernalia were recovered from the location, along with multiple firearms and ammunition." Those arrested were Clifford Eugene Knight, 39, and Myron Jack Davenport, 35, Covington said. Both men

Oyster aquaculture program accepting applications for class

SEA COAST ECHO

BILOXI, Miss. – The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is now accepting applications for the Oyster Farming Fundamentals course being offered during the 2019-2020 season.

A RESTORE-Act project, Oyster Farming Fundamentals is a 15-hour, non-credit course that teaches current and potential oyster farmers the basics of off-bottom oyster aquaculture and provides a foundation of knowledge to start or improve their oyster farming operation.

Interested participants must meet and complete the following items to enroll:

Complete and submit the application by 6 p.m. March 7, 2019

Be a full-time Mississippi resident living in Hancock, Harrison or

Jackson counties with the ability to attend training

Be at least 18 years old as of March 16, 2019

Have a valid boat registration

Possess a valid Mississippi driver's license
Applicants must be present at the "Required Information Session" at 6 p.m. on March 7 at the Bolton Building auditorium, 1141 Bayview Ave., Biloxi, MS 39530.

During the session, expectations and requirements of the class will be reviewed.

The Oyster Farming Fundamentals class has 25 openings.

If interest exceeds capacity, a lottery drawing will determine class entry.

For more information about enrolling and eligibility requirements, visit dmr.ms.gov/index.php/programs/1183-notice-oyster-farm-training or contact Jason Rider at jason.rider@dmr.ms.gov or 228-523-4037.

Mississippi's 2019 Red Snapper Season will open Friday, May 24

SEA COAST ECHO

BILOXI, Miss. – The Executive Director for the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources and the Commission on Marine Resources announced Friday that Mississippi's Red Snapper season will open for private recreational anglers and state for-hire vessels on Friday, May 24, 2019. Private recreational anglers can fish out to 200 nautical miles; however, vessels with state for-hire permits are restricted to state territorial waters extending nine nautical miles from the barrier islands.

The season will be open seven days a week and is scheduled to begin at 12:01 a.m. on May 24. It will run through September 2 at 11:59 p.m. with a mid-season closure from July 8 – 28. This closure will help ensure the state's annual quota is not met before Labor Day and will allow MDMR staff to analyze all data from the first segment of the season.

Due to an increase in the Gulf annual catch limit (ACL), Mississippi's quota this year is 151,584 pounds, with the quota for private recreational fishermen set at 148,507 pounds and the state for-hire quota set at 3,077 pounds. However, to account for the overage by the state for-hire vessels in 2018, the state for-hire allocation is 2,642 pounds. MDMR will manage each group's allotment individually.

The season will close if the assigned quota for recreational anglers or state for-hire anglers is reached at any point after the season opens. It will also close if the Gulf-wide quota is reached.

All anglers are required to register their trips through MDMR's Tails n' Scales program, which is available through a smartphone app, a website and a call center. Anglers must create a profile and start a trip before going fishing for Red Snapper. They must have a trip number when they are out on the water and close out that trip before creating a new one.

The data collected in the Tails n' Scales program allows MDMR fisheries managers to closely monitor the harvest in near real-time while still allowing Mississippi anglers more opportunity and greater flexibility to harvest Red Snapper.

As a reminder, there will be consequences for any anglers who do not comply with Tails n' Scales trip reporting. Anglers caught fishing for Red Snapper without a trip authorization number will be fined and Marine Patrol officers will confiscate their fish.

The Tails n' Scales app is available in iTunes and Google Play, and the website is tailsnscales.org. Fishermen can call 228-697-5762 if they need to report any issues with the app.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the state by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes. My superhero

The month of March is National Kidney Month and March 14 is World Kidney Day, a day and when "landmarks and buildings nationwide will turn orange, the signature color for kidney disease," the National Kidney Foundation's website states.

For our family, along with millions of others, every month, day, hour, minute, and second is about kidney awareness.

More than six years ago, my dad was diagnosed with chronic kidney disease and end stage renal failure, a byproduct of having had diabetes for more than 16 years.

Prior to his diagnosis, I watched my once- physically-able to do most anything father rapidly decline. He would suddenly fall asleep sitting up at the table, his weight began to drop, and he was often pale and fatigued.

When the doctors finally decided to put him on dialysis, it seemed like devastating news. The day he found out, I took the day off work and we spent the afternoon together laughing and polishing off a big bag of crawfish, something he can't enjoy anymore. Your diet completely changes when you start dialysis.

It took a while for me to realize that dialysis wasn't a terrible idea. In my mind, I imagined the dialysis center would look like an episode of the "The Walking Dead."

But after going with him to several of his appointments early on, I realized that was not the case.

There are patients of all ages who go to dialysis and the majority of them walk out after their sessions, albeit tired looking, but nothing like I had once pictured.

It's been six years that my dad has gone to dialysis for three days a week for almost four hours a day.

At this point, I must give a great shout out to the nurses at Fresenius Kidney Care Center in Diamondhead. They are a blessing. I don't even think I have the words to express the gratitude I feel towards them. They take the best care of my dad. They don't have an easy job and I am thankful for all of them.

It's not easy to watch your father, or anyone for that matter, suffer from these diseases, as I'm sure many of you can relate.

But my dad is truly a fighter. Sure, he's had his ups and downs. He's even made comments about giving up before, which we will quickly chastise him for.

He still believes, even after some recent setbacks, that he will receive a kidney. Now, he won't let his two daughters get tested, but he is on a transplant list so we are always hopeful.

Since diabetes, hypertension, and kidney disease runs rampant in my Favre family history, he wants us to have both our working kidneys.

Dad is still quite young and I believe has many years left to enjoy.

He is his grandson's biggest fan, which to be honest, is probably his most motivating factor to keep on fighting.

At times he seems tired, but for the most part, he is the same outgoing, sarcastic, kind-hearted, and boisterous person who raised me.

According to kidney.org, there are about "30 million adults estimated to have chronic kidney disease — and most aren't aware of it."

Limited premises liability

Mississippi Senate bill 2901 seeks to limit premises liability for property owners. The measure has passed the state Senate. A similar bill failed in the House of Representatives.

The bill is a form of tort reform. It raises the threshold of property owner liability when a third party causes harm to someone on the property. A good example of third party harm would be if someone is injured by a thug in a parking lot. The legislation establishes liability only if the property owner "with a degree of conscious decision-making, impelled the conduct of said third party." The legislation also limits the liability of the property owner to their percentage of the fault in the incident. The legislation creates a new standard for an "atmosphere of violence," requiring a felony conviction on the property within the last three years. The net result would give property owners a much higher degree of protection, virtual immunity, from liability if violence occurs on their property.

Proponents of the bill argue the new law will spur economic development in Jackson, where business owners are afraid to invest because juries have been plaintiff friendly. Indeed, Jackson has produced several big judgments against property owners. Many have been overturned on appeal, but the effect surely makes investors wary of Jackson and other tort-friendly areas of our state.

The real issue is who should be making these liability calls: the legislature or the courts. Most tort laws in general and premises liability specifically come from common law — meaning the accumulated guidance of centuries of decisions by judges and juries. Is it wise for legislators to supplant the decision making of judges and juries, especially when each case is unique? In 2004, the legislature intervened and put monetary limits on punitive and non-economic tort damages, but this new proposal strikes at the heart of liability assessment, which is fundamentally a judgment call. The existing standard is "negligence."

Economic development of Jackson is crucial to the long-term growth of Mississippi, but lawmakers should be cautious of the unintended consequences of meddling with centuries of premises liability common law.

Wyatt Emmerich is the president of Emmerich Newspapers, Inc. in Jackson.

Oh! Mr. Wicker,

You are misleading the people by apparently allowing a staff member to write the article posted March 2nd. Aside from the ideological clamor and deformed rhetoric, the apparent facts presented are floating in air without the least context, except for the ideology brackets that cover the whole article. This is not leadership in the time of Climate Crisis we inhabit. This is not leadership in the time of economic transformation that is taking place. This is not leadership in the time of immense wealth inequality, nor in the time of climate migration, nor yet in the time of pharmaceutical piracy. It is not what I voted for and it is not what people need.

well as disrupting everyone's lives with the stress, anxiety and fear bound up in so many changes. But our forefathers chose to "...remake America's economy and society through a radical new approach to energy, infra-

The only difference is that we didn't cause WWII nor could we have prevented it by changing our behavior. What we now face is within our means and our ability. The staff writer is correct, it would take just such a mighty effort. But then, haven't we shown ourselves to be a mighty people-when we have the facts! No one doubted nor tried to obfuscate the bombing of our fleet in Pearl Harbor. No one made it a matter of "belief." In 1941 people were well led and

A world of infinite possibilities

Closely examine any map, and you'll discover a world of infinite possibilities.

It's exciting, searching for a new travel destination. Large cities, ringed by interstates and peppered with nearby points-of-interest icons, seem to be obvious choices. Leave the interstate system however, and an intricate web of smaller highways and roads opens up thousands of other options.

For water lovers, maps of coastal regions offer an even greater lure, hiding tiny enclaves along sun-soaked beachy shores.

Travelers are left with one big question – which place do I choose?

For boaters, Bay St. Louis will now stand out as a prime possibility. This gem of the Mississippi Gulf Coast is prominently featured in the subtitle of the latest edition of a well-known boating publication.

The Waterway Guide – Southern Edition 2019: Florida, the Keys, and the Gulf Coast to Bay St. Louis will assist any boater, from the first-time novice to the experienced mariner, in navigating our coastal waterways and planning a visit to the area.

This guide is a tremendous aid to navigation. Over 550 laminated pages feature aerial photographs, navigation information and alerts, marked routes, numerous charts and planning maps, GPS waypoints, bridge clearances and schedules, lists of local marinas and their amenities, anchorage information, and articles about ports in each vicinity. Other detailed information includes fuel prices, boatyards and boating services, free docking sites, launch ramps, navigation alerts, Coast Guard contacts, communication and weather aids, pictures and customer reviews, and news and events.

Each coastal region is sectioned and color-coded, and there are flaps for easy bookmarking.

One of the advertisements in the book highlights the Bay St. Louis Harbor and Marina. Readers learn our harbor is the Mississippi Gulf Coast's first and only Clean and Resilient Marina, located right in the heart of downtown Bay St. Louis.

This full-service marina has 163 slips (12 are ADA-accessible) ranging from 25' to 125' feet.

There are restrooms and showers, free wi-fi, 24-hour security, transient and courtesy docking, non-ethanol fuel, electric and water connections, and a large events dock. For harbor information, call 228-216-1644.

Spiral bound and easy to use, the Waterway Guide is a must for anyone with an interest in boating and navigation.

Get your copy today, and start exploring. The possibilities are endless.

responded immediately and wisely, and by the way, scientifically!

Leadership does not tell us that under the "Green New Deal" airplanes will not fly because that is not true. It might be noted that we do need to find another way to make things fly. That is a challenge and will require science fiction-like creativity. Sounds like some of the things we have done in the past and could do now if we had leadership, not defamers of what clearly warrants attention.

Since the staff writer got off course and discredited "socialism," whatever that is, I won't follow him in any detail. It just makes socialism sound bad, but highways are good and who has to bring their own or even pay when they use one! There are countless things we must do together, socially so to say, or they won't get done. The tossing of labels disconnected from any context and most facts is downright wicked, misleading and of no use to a true leader. Why, Mr. Wicker, do you sanction this misleading of people?

I am writing to challenge you, my Senator, to lead us through a dense fog of manipulation and fear, lead us so that we might survive and thrive, lead us who live on the water, its rising how can we be safe, lead us who farm and there is no water, lead us who have "never seen anything like this". Enough of ideology, it is just an "idea," let's talk reality, facts, not facts one by one, but data connected to a context like history, or scientific measurement. You, Sir, do not need to be educated, but rather you surely need to be challenged to do your job as a leader and stop following the ideological pack. An "ideology" is just words about an idea. We do not need any ideology to face reality and we do not need to defend capitalism, nor do we need to run from the fact that we need to cooperate and share the burden to do some things. That is not an "ism," ask any carpenter or farmer or businessman. It is social. Who could object to that?

This is an invitation for you, Mr. Wicker, to grow into what your Creator called you to be when you were led to be a Senator. You were not called only to follow, but also to take risks and lead the people you serve.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Johnson

I encourage you to talk with your physicians about your kidney health.

Fighting any chronic illness is a tough battle. I sincerely admire people who live their lives to the fullest despite the struggles of a chronic illness, whether it be chronic kidney disease or not.

Daddy, even though I haven't walked a day in your shoes and know what it's really like, I will always be there if you need a sounding board, a ride to the doctor's office, a dinner date at the Big Easy Diner, or just some good old-fashioned dad/daughter time. I've always admired you, but the past six years really opened my eyes to just how much of a superhero you really are.

ETHEL LADNER FAVRE
JAMES OLIVER SCHNUR

ETHEL LADNER FAVRE

Mrs. Ethel Ladner Favre, 91, of Bay St. Louis, MS gained her Angel's wings and entered eternal rest Sunday, March 3, 2019, surrounded by her loving family.

Ethel was born on February 21, 1928 and was a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County. She was a devout Catholic and enjoyed attending daily mass at her beloved Our Lady of the Gulf Church. Ethel retired from the Hancock County Office of the Mississippi Extension Service, a Division of Mississippi State University, with over fifty years of public service to the citizens of Hancock County. Ethel supported the County Agent, County Forester, County 4-H Agent and County Home Economist.

Ethel was a 1945 graduate of Bay High School. Ethel was married to the love of her life, Nelius A. Favre, Sr. and together they had four children: Marie Louise Favre, Nelius Alvah Favre, Jr., Edward Alphonse Favre and Michael Joseph Favre, all of Bay St. Louis.

In retirement, Ethel remained a devoted "public servant" to her church community, preparing Our Lady of the Gulf Church for its daily masses, and motivating and directing the cooking efforts of her sons at the church's annual fundraiser, Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Fest. She enjoyed working in her home and yard, and was known for hosting large gatherings to celebrate many family events, as she was always willing to cook and bake for all. She firmly believed in large, traditional family dinners on Sunday evenings, and she never mastered cooking a "small pot" of anything. She loved supporting her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren in all of their personal, professional and political endeavors, and this love for family truly made her a great mother, grandmother and great-grandmother (Gram) to her immediate family and most of Bay St. Louis. Ms. Ethel will always be remembered for having a bright smile and warm heart that caused her to be welcoming and loving to all.

She was preceded in death by her husband Nelius A. Favre, Sr. and infant daughter Marie Louise Favre; her parents Edward Victor and Mary Zengarleng Ladner; her brother Joe and Bonnie Ladner; her brother Leo Ladner; her brother George and Margaret Ladner; her sister Georgie and Bill Irwin; and her brother-in-law James Sticker.

She is survived by her sons and daughters-in-law Neil and Beth Chevis Favre, Eddie and Jan Hayes Favre and Michael and Sissy Seal Favre, all of Bay St. Louis; grandchildren Jonathan (and Karen) Favre, Erin (and Jason) Favre Blanchette, Jamie Favre, Casey Favre, Nelius (and Ara) Favre III and Kellie (and Darrell) Seal; great-grandchildren McKenzie Favre, Madison Favre, Lakyn Favre, Rainey Favre, Camila Favre, Neil Favre IV, Vera Favre, Eli Blanchette, Isaac Favre, Chase Seal, Amber Favre, Aubrey Favre and Miles Acosta; her brother and sister-in-law Bobby and Ann Ladner, sister and brother-in-law Anna and Gil Schmidt, sister Evelyn Sticker and sister-in-law Barbara Ladner; along with numerous nieces, nephews and "adopted" family members.

The family would like to extend a special thank you to the entire staff at Dunbar Village Nursing Home. We would also like to thank those who treated our Gram like their own family, Ms. Louise Beal and Mr. Paul Mary. These special people assisted with her care in this final year, and truly provided the peace of knowing she was always surrounded by familiar faces.

Services will be held at Our Lady of the Gulf Community Center with Pastor Michael O'Conner as officiant on Thursday, March 7, 2019. Visitation will be from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. with a funeral mass following. Interment will follow at St. Mary's Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

A Celebration of Life, as only Gram would have done, will be held at the Bay St. Louis Community Hall, 301 Blaize Ave., immediately following the completion of services. All are invited.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church: 228 S Beach Blvd. Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

JAMES OLIVER SCHNUR

James Oliver Schnur died at home Monday, March 4, 2019. His license plate read "Tubaman" and it reflected his life long love of playing and performing music.

James was born in Dunkirk, NY in 1936. He married his high school sweetheart, Mary Ann Goulding and spent the next 61 joyous years with her. As the first member of his family to attend college, Jim earned a Doctorate of Education from the State University of New York at Buffalo, NY. He taught at SUNY Geneseo, was the Associate Dean of Education at the University of Northern Iowa; Dean of the School of Education at Lamar University in Texas. He ended his academic career as the Dean of the college of Education and Psychology at the University of Southern Mississippi. He held that position for 17 years. He was also active in several professional organizations. It was in retirement that Jim's love of music was rekindled. He and Mary Ann sang in the Coast Chorale of Bay St. Louis. Jim played tuba, upright bass, and sang with the "Coast Stompers". The band has played at the Silver Slipper Casino for over a decade. The group has world renowned musicians who became his second family.

Jim was preceded in death by his parents; granddaughter, Erin Sullivan; brother and sister.

He is survived by his wonderful and loving wife of 61 years, Mary Ann, daughter, Kathleen (Joel); son, Jeffrey (Janese); three grandchildren, Alexander, Sean and Janae; and his caring and close friends in the Bay, especially those on Main Street.

Funeral Services will be held at 12:00 noon Thursday, March 7, 2019 at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis.

In lieu of flowers the family prefer donations to the American Cancer Society: 1380 Livingston Lane, Jackson, MS 39213.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

in 2014 to meet the needs of "approximately 380 children in the custody of the Mississippi Child Protection Services Agency."

"Today, there are less than 170 children in care and a strong commitment by the Mississippi Department of Human Services to place children with relatives first and then licensed foster homes as a secondary," Mederos said. "Thus the need for congregate care has declined sharply. Brenda's House has successfully served the county as a shelter, but in order to meet the current needs of children and families of Hancock County, we're asking for your support today to allow us to transition from a children's emergency shelter to Brenda's House Family Center. This groundbreaking program will work to ensure that children are safe in their homes; parents have the skills and resources to safely support their children; teens have opportunities to become successful and independent; and our agencies will collaborate together to help families of Hancock County."

Mederos added that — if the board grants the request — the budget will not exceed the original request to the board for the current fiscal year.

Mederos added that she expects a decline in the budget for next fiscal year.

The budget is currently $144,000 for this fiscal year, Mederos said.

She added that the there has also been support from the community. Any grants Brenda's House receives will also help reduce the county's costs, she added. She said that one of Brenda's House's "major" grant funders is already on board.

"We have great people in place to do this project and this will become a model program for the state of Mississippi," Mederos said.

Board President Blaine LaFontaine that as the need has evolved, so have services.

"I think as long as it does not exceed the budget, I don't see a reason not to support the efforts that your agency and others throughout the court system are working towards this family-based approach."

Mederos said the plan is to end services for children at the shelter on March 31.

The board on Monday took no action on the matter, but board attorney Gary Yarborough said he would have the necessary information finalized for the board to take action at its next meeting.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 18 at 9 a.m.

Authors and Characters

SEA COAST ECHO

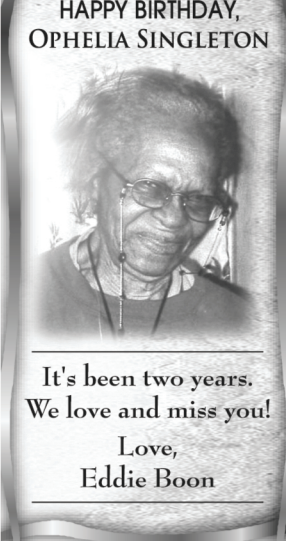

Peter Sullivan is the next author for the Authors & Characters @ Your Library program on Tuesday, March 12, at 11:45 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library. He will be discussing his novel, Paddy O'Neil's Trunk.

Peter worked for many years as a psychotherapist and was an adjunct professor in the social work program at the Rochester Institute of Technology. He has published short stories in a variety of publications including the online journal Hektoen International. He won the University of Rochester "Human Values in Health Care Award, Best Creative Work" in 2008 and 2011.

His novel was published in 2016 by Borealis Press. The book describes one family's search to understand its past, including: escaping the Irish famine, settling in Canada and relocating to the States. It is a story of remembrance and homecoming, loosely based on the author's genealogical research of his family. Peter and his wife have lived in Bay St. Louis since 2013.

Lunch is available for $10, payable to The Library Foundation at the Weather continues to wring out diamond games

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The weather has continued to wreak havoc with area baseball and softball games. On Friday, the weather caused games to either be postponed or change venues of play. Now, old man winter decided to blow through again on Sunday evening dropping temperatures to a chilly level. Hopefully, the diamond action will heat back up before division play starts next week.

BASEBALL

With the way the weather came through over the weekend, it was more of hit and miss for our area diamond teams.

The Bay High Tigers got on the field on Saturday to play host to Hattiesburg.

The Tigers (1-2) dropped the game by the narrowest of margins 5-4 to perennial contender Hattiesburg.

Hattiesburg took a 3-0 lead in the first three innings but Bay

High bounced back to knot the score 3-3 in the bottom of the fourth inning.

Bay High took a 4-3 lead in the fifth inning but Hattiesburg responded with two runs in the sixth inning for the difference.

Bay High head coach Kevin Burdine commented, "We got ourselves in trouble in the early part of the game. But, I am proud of our guys for fighting back and getting back in it to tie it up. In the end, we just made too many mistakes to get the win."

In the game, Cooper Cooksey and Carson Moran split pitching duties. Cooksey had seven strikeouts and Moran had three. At the plate, Cooksey had two hits while Moran, Charlie Cook, Garrett Langrell, Cade Compretta, Ben Wilemon and Eli Bigham all had one hit. Compretta's was a three-run homerun.

The Rocks beat Presbyterian Christian 6-1 and lost to Oak Grove 10-6 on Friday in the Sumrall tournament.

St. Stanislaus split a pair of games in the Sumrall tournament on Friday. In game one, the Rocks fell to Oak Grove 10-6.

Brad Dossett took the loss on the mound dropping his record to 2-1. Easton Logan and Keaton Cunningham also pitched. Trace Rhodes had two hits and Cole Fletcher had a solo homerun. Taylor Lafontaine, Braxton Bean, Dawson Strong, and Thomas Williams all had hits. Bean had two RBIs and Strong had three.

In the second game, SSC beat Presbyterian Christian 6-1 behind Peyton Sandrook who threw five innings scattering five hits and five strikeouts for the win. At the plate, Lafontaine, Rhodes, Bean, Sandrook and Ethan McNeill all had hits. Lafontaine, Rhodes, Bean and McNeill all had an RBI.

SSC head coach Mark Logan stated, "I think both games came down to pitching; when we threw strikes we had success, when we walked batters we got ourselves into trouble. You can't beat good teams when you give them free base runners."

Pass Christian had to change venues for their game against Poplarville on Friday due to weather. Poplarville had to come from behind to beat Pass Christian 14-4 and survive two coaches being ejected.

Dustin Allison had a single and double and accounted for all four RBIs in the loss.

The Hawks had their Friday night game cancelled due to weather and lost their Saturday game against Poplarville 3-2.

In upcoming action, Bay High hosts Stone on Thursday and travels to Gautier on Saturday. Hancock hosts St. Martin on Friday and Tylertown on Saturday. Pass Christian is set to travel to PRC on Friday and Long Beach on Saturday. St. Stanislaus travels to Gautier on Friday and will host Pascagoula on Saturday. See you at the games!

SOFTBALL

The diamond girls seem to have been more affected by the weather simply due to location of venues.

The Bay High Lady Tigers

have only played two games both losses. One was a 5-4 loss to Buloxi in which Bay High surrendered three unearned runs on three errors in the first inning. The other game was a 6-0 loss to West Harrison that was the result on one poor inning of play.

The Hancock Lady Hawks have had three consecutive rain-outs which has resulted in them playing just one game so far this season.

The Pass Christian Lady Pirates dropped their most recent match with Gulfport 15-0 on Friday.

We have not received any results from OLA on their season so far.

In upcoming action, Hancock plays today at Harrison Central, at West Harrison tomorrow and against Gulf Shores at West Harrison on Friday. The Lady Tigers returns to the field at home tomorrow against East Central and at Biloxi on Friday.

The Lady Pirates host Biloxi tomorrow. OLA plays at Perry Central on Friday. See you at the games!

Just what the doctor ordered -- redfish

Ohhh we had a fun one, on our last trip to the Louisiana Marsh. The recent weather had forced us to reschedule this trip a few times, but we finally got the right forecast. Had the one and only, Dr Chris Frigo and his son Craig for the day. Dr Chris is a busy fellow, but this trip was really for his son Craig. His son was in town for a visit, down from New York.

We were after redfish, big redfish. Craig wanted to pick a fight with one of those Marsh Monsters. We made our way to LA Marsh, and conditions were near perfect. Little to wind, low water, with an approaching cold front. I shut off the engine, and handed Dr Chris a rod with a Boat Monkey Spinner Bait. I didn't even get a chance to hand Craig a fishing pole before Dr Chris's Okuma spinning reel was screaming. FIRST CAST BABY!!!

We spent the rest of the

SHORE THING FISHING REPORT

by Capt. Sonny Schindler

morning chasing tailing reds and black drum. Both Craig and Dr Chris got to battle several big bull reds. We tagged and released all the fish, to be caught another day.

We had just begun getting the boat ready for the ride home. The gnats had found us, and were about as bad as you could ever imagine. Craig asked for "one more cast". We reluctantly agreed, as he let his popping cork fly. Two quick pops and the rod doubled over. Craig pulled it off, and got one on the very LAST CAST!!!

We got some amazing pictures, and one heck of a story. The father and son fishing trip is a right of passage down in these parts. Quality family time, away from the hustle and bustle of land, makes for some long lasting memories. Please try and make time for those near and dear to you. It's just what the Doctor ordered.

RS-25 Engine Fired At Highest Power Level, Four Times Longer Than Prior Tests

SEA COAST ECHO

NASA marked yet another milestone in preparations for the first mission of its new Space Launch System (SLS) rocket Feb. 28, conducting an RS-25 engine test at its highest power level for an extended period of time. The 500-second RS-25 test was conducted on the A-1 Test Stand at NASA's Stennis Space Center near Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. For the fourth time, NASA powered the engine to 113 percent of its original thrust design, this time for more than 430 seconds, about four times longer than any previous hot fire at that thrust level.

The hot fire concluded a series of nine tests that began last August, using RS-25 developmental engine No. 0525. As with previous tests in the series, the Feb. 28 hot fire featured an RS-25 flight engine controller that will be used on an SLS mission. The controller is a key component of engine modifications made to help power SLS, being built as the world's most-powerful rocket to carry humans deeper into space than ever, to such destinations as the Moon and, ultimately, Mars. The controller acts as the "brain" to help control engine operation and to facilitate communication between the engine and SLS rocket. NASA is modifying the RS-25 engines (former space shuttle main engines) to operate at 111 percent of original thrust design to help launch SLS on its missions. Four RS-25 engines, firing simultaneously, will produce 2 million pounds of combined thrust during SLS launch and ascent. Testing at 113 percent at Stennis – especially for the extended duration – demonstrates a margin of safety for operating the engine at the needed power level. In addition to the flight controller, the Feb. 28 test also featured a pair of innovative engine components – a 3D-printed pogo accumulator to dampen pressure oscillations that can cause flight instability and a main combustion chamber fabricated using a hot isostatic pressure (HIP) bonding technique. These components are early milestones in NASA's and Aerojet Rocketdyne's endeavor to maximize state-of-the-art manufacturing methods to significantly reduce the cost and time needed to build new RS-25 engines. With the end-of-February hot fire, the developmental engine will be removed from the test stand to prepare for installation of RS-25 flight engine No. 2062, scheduled for acceptance testing in early April. Each RS-25 test marks progress towards Exploration Mission-1, during which SLS will launch an uncrewed Orion spacecraft around the Moon and back to test critical capabilities needed for deep space flights. Exploration Mission-2 will carry astronauts aboard Orion on a return to deep space. In addition to testing RS-25 engines, NASA plans to test the fully assembled SLS core stage for the first mission on the B-2 Test Stand at Stennis, firing up all four engines at once. RS-25 tests at Stennis are conducted by a combined team of NASA, Aerojet Rocketdyne and Syncom Space Services operators. Aerojet Rocketdyne is the RS-25 prime contractor. Syncom Space Services is the prime contractor for Stennis facilities and operations.

Free TaxAide offered at Hancock's libraries

SEA COAST ECHO

TaxAide, a program sponsored by AARP and the IRS to prepare free tax returns for low income taxpayers and the elderly, is working to help Hancock County residents this tax season. Volunteers are limited to relatively simple returns due to program scope, but they can do most personal returns. TaxAide volunteers work from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Tuesdays and Saturdays are at the Waveland branch of the Hancock County Library System; and 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

Thursdays at the Kiln Branch of the Hancock County Library system. There is another site, and staff, at the Picayune Senior Center on Thursdays.

TaxAide will be closed in Waveland on day of the St. Patrick's Parade, Saturday, March 16.

People should bring all relevant tax documents, last year's return, if possible, social security cards for all the individuals on the return, and a driver's license or state ID. If you would like more information, please call 228-342-6811.

BWYC'S Eugene Schmitt wins RS Aero North American Midwinter Sailing Regatta

BY JAMES KEATING MD

Commodore Eugene Schmitt of the Bay Waveland Yacht Club won the RS Aero 7 Midwinter Regatta at Palm Beach, Florida on February 8-9, 2019. Schmitt competed in eight races against twelve other sailboats finishing with scores: 1-1-2]-1-1-2-1-1 Total: 8

The RS Aero 7 sailboat's new design is one of the most technically advanced single-handed dinghies on the water and is under consideration to become an Olympic Class for the 2024 Paris games. The high performance, stable design of the RS Aero 7 allows an expert sailor such as Schmitt to sail faster, hike more perched on the windward rail, and jibe effectively on the downwind runs.

On the Gulf Coast our local sailors learn their fundamental skills as children in eight foot Optimist dinghies. The several oldest yacht clubs in America along the coast offer junior sailing programs year round for girls and boys. In this locale the ways of the wind and water are passed down from one generation to the next.

Pass Christian Public School District Principal Mandy Lacy Named 4th Congressional District Administrator of the Year

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Education (MDE) announced that Mandy Lacy, principal of DeLisle Elementary School in the Pass Christian School District, has been selected as the 2019 Mississippi 4th Congressional District Administrator of the Year.

Each of the 13 school districts within the 4th Congressional District selected a District Administrator of the Year. Following an intensive selection process, four congressional district winners were chosen from district award recipients. After rigorous interviews with finalists, one administrator will earn the prestigious title of Mississippi Administrator of the Year. The Mississippi Administrator of the Year program honors an administrator who demonstrates superior ability to inspire teachers, to employ exemplary leadership practices and to participate as an active member of the community.

Lacy began her distinguished career as an educator at DeLisle Elementary School. For the past 17 years, she has tirelessly served the school community as a teacher, interventionist, lead teacher, assistant principal, and principal. Her philosophy of education includes making school a positive experience for students of all ages. "If students want to come to school, they are more likely to achieve academic success. When students know that they are accepted, valued and safe, then they are willing to take risks and persevere. It is our intent to educate our students to become critical thinkers and contributing citizens."

Under Lacy's leadership, DeLisle Elementary School achieved an "A" performance level rating for the 2017-2018 school year. The school was able to achieve this highest possible rating within the Mississippi Statewide

Accountability System by improving 72 accountability points from the previous year. She was also a part of the administrative team that led the school to achieve National Blue Ribbon recognition in 2013. Additionally, DES has achieved Tier 1 and Tier 2 Model Site status for PBIS (Positive Behavior Intervention and Supports). This year, Lacy and her team began the implementation of the House System. This school-wide initiative enhances the positive school climate and culture that is already in place at DeLisle Elementary School by dividing each student and staff member into one of five houses. The house system aims to provide students with a sense of identity as they work together to achieve goals.

Mandy Lacy, wife of Ray Lacy and mother of Mackenzie, Peyton, and Mia Clare Lacy, resides in Pass Christian. She holds a B.S. degree in Elementary Education, a M.Ed. in Educational Administration, an Ed.S. in Instructional Leadership, and is currently pursuing an Ed.D. in Educational Leadership from William Carey University.

Jason Fricke Selected as MCEF Student of the Month

Jason Fricke, 12th grade student at the Hancock County Career Technical Center (HCCTC), has been selected as the February Student of the Month by the Mississippi Construction Education Foundation (MCEF). Jason is a third-year student at the HCCTC and is currently taking dual credit welding classes for which he is receiving high school and college credit. He was nominated by his instructor, Mr. Chevis Necaise, based on his grades, attendance, discipline, achievement, leadership abilities, and post-graduation plans. Pictured from left to right are: Mr. Chevis Necaise (Welding Instructor), Jason Fricke, and Dr. Chad Davis (HCCTC Director).

DeLisle Elementary Students Slam Dunk March Madness X-STREAM Challenge

SEA COAST ECHO

As millions of college hoops fans prepare to watch Cinderella teams triumph over top-seeded juggernauts, students at DeLisle Elementary School jumped at the chance to put their bracket busting STREAM (science, technology, reading, engineering, art, math) skills to the test in the school-wide March Madness X-STREAM challenge.

Sports fans know that practice is the key to success. What many may not realize is the role STREAM plays in taking these sports to the next level. In the March Madness X-STREAM challenge, students were tasked with planning, designing, and executing their own innovative ideas for creating a basketball catapult and goal. Once complete, students tested and improved their designs then reflected on what worked and what didn't. Tapping into the students' interest in sports not only established a real-world connection to STREAM areas, but also engaged them in applying STREAM knowledge and skills.

The March Madness X-STREAM challenge was facilitated by 5th grade Explore students.

Daelyn Wilkinson, Zoe Crump, Aubrey Garrison, and Sofi Simmons are confident that their basketball catapult will swish the ball through the basket!

• Peter Sullivan is the next author for the Authors & Characters @ Your Library program on Tuesday, March 12, at 11:45 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library. He will be discussing his novel, Paddy O'Neil's Trunk. Peter worked for many years as a psychotherapist and was an adjunct professor in the social work program at the Rochester Institute of Technology. He has published short stories in a variety of publications including the online journal Hektoen International. He won the University of Rochester "Human Values in Health Care Award, Best Creative Work" in 2008 and 2011. His novel was published in 2016 by Borealis Press. The book describes one family's search to understand its past, including: escaping the Irish famine, settling in Canada and relocating to the States. It is a story of remembrance and homecoming, loosely based on the author's genealogical research of his family. One reviewer wrote "It is a delightful story that fleshes out the skeletons hiding in any family's closet. As a nation of immigrants, it is, in many ways, our story." Another reviewer said, "The story will resonate with anyone who has roots that span oceans and time." Peter and his wife have lived in Bay St. Louis since 2013. Lunch is available for $10, payable to The Library Foundation at the door. Reservations are required, and copies of the book will be available for purchase. To make your reservation, call (228)467-5282.

Assists at State Capitol

Carly Richards and Natalie Plouffe of Kiln, and Margot Bullock of Pass Christian recently served as junior pages for the Mississippi State Senate. Pages generally run errands for officials and senate staff. Carly, Natalie and Margot are pictured with Lt. Governor Tate Reeves and Senator Philip Moran, who sponsored their visit. Carly is the daughter of Mary Ann Richards and E.J. Richards and is homeschooled, Natalie is the daughter of Ron and Candice Plouffe and is homeschooled, and Margot is the daughter of Leslie Bullock and attends Pass Christian High School. When asked about the week, they said their experience at the Capitol was an honor and very informative. They recommend the program to young Mississippians eager to serve their state and learn about politics. They believe paging is a great opportunity to meet new friends and professional contacts.
